though it is realized that if Austria continues her policy another case in which Americans are involved may arise at any moment. It is becoming increasingly clear that the German promise in the Arabic case applied only to her own ships, and that the submarine campaign will be carried on in all waters except those surrounding England until some way is found of pledging Austria.

At the German Embassy to-day it was stated that so far as is known there are no German submarines in the Mediterranean, those which was was stated that so lar as is known there are no German submarines in the Mediterranean, those which were at the Dardanelles having been sent into the Black Sea. This was taken to mean that Germany washes her hands of the Mediterranean cases and that the United States must depend on what she may herself do with Austria for protection of her citizens.

Meanwhile, although official sources to-day confirmed reports that the Yasaka Maru had been sunk without warning, a doubt arose as to whether W. J. Leigh, one of the passengers reported to be an American, was really one. The State Department has been unable to find any record of a passport issued to him. This would not prevent action by this government if his citizenship was proved, but it does mean that no action will be taken until some such proof is furnished.

will be taken until some such proof is furnished.

The State Department to-day instructed Edward Lyell Bristow, consular agent at Port Said, to interview Leigh and attempt to determine whether he is an American citizen. Press dispatches have indicated that he was born in China of American parents and was on his way from England to China aboard the Yasaka Maru. If these reports prove true, State Department officials said, and Leigh has failed to anneunce his citizenship he has lost his right to claim protection from the United States government.

The report of Mr. Bristow that the Yasaka Maru was torpedeed without warning and made no attempt to escape also stated that nothing was known as to the nationality of the submarine. The undersea boat, he said, was not seen until after the ship was torpedeed, and then only her periscope was visible. This, of course, would give no grounds for protest to any one power, though officials are convinced that the vessel must have been Austrian or German. Until something definite is known both as to the nationality of the war boat and the status of Leigh, no representations are possible by this government.

The incident has served to emphasize the importance of an immediate understanding with Austria as to the derstanding with Austria as to the right of a belligerent warship to sink which has been investigating conditions in Sing Sing, reversed itself again birthday

Shortly after the torpedo was discharged two periscopes, one long and ence short, appeared above the water within 400 feet of the steamship. They moved to a position off the stern, on the starboard side, the Port Said advices relate, as though ready to discharge a second torpedo if necessary.

After the Yasaka Maru sank a coning tower was visible for a brief time at a point about a mile away.

The report describes the manner in which all on board the steamship entered the boats safely, this having been accomplished within ten minutes of the time the torpedo was discharged. The captain caused the boats to be tied together. Sails were hoisted and, in accordance with a plan arranged previously by wireless, a southeasterly course was taken. This was held until midnight, when the French gunboat which rescued the passengers and crew was met.

Grip is not a disease reportable to the Health Department, and the death certificates rarely say just "grip." Private hospitals rarely get a case until the grip is something else, yet each reports that the grip is all through the staff. Bellevue says that the only straight grip cases it gets are lodginghouse victims and Bowery derelicts. The city dispensaries say they are doing a little better than the regular holiday rush business.

New York's grip is not the high-fever kind, but it is none the less nasty. It's the kind you have on your day off, and makes you feel disagreeable the rest of the week. It is the low-fever, stuffed-up-head kind, that feels as though you had been hit on the back of the head by a ball club.
